THE UNI-COM GUIDE

UNI-COM Foundation

CALIFORNIA

California is alive with activity in parapsychology, metaphysics and other significant areas of human growth potential. Uni-Com Foundation directly supports this activity by serving as its information hub.

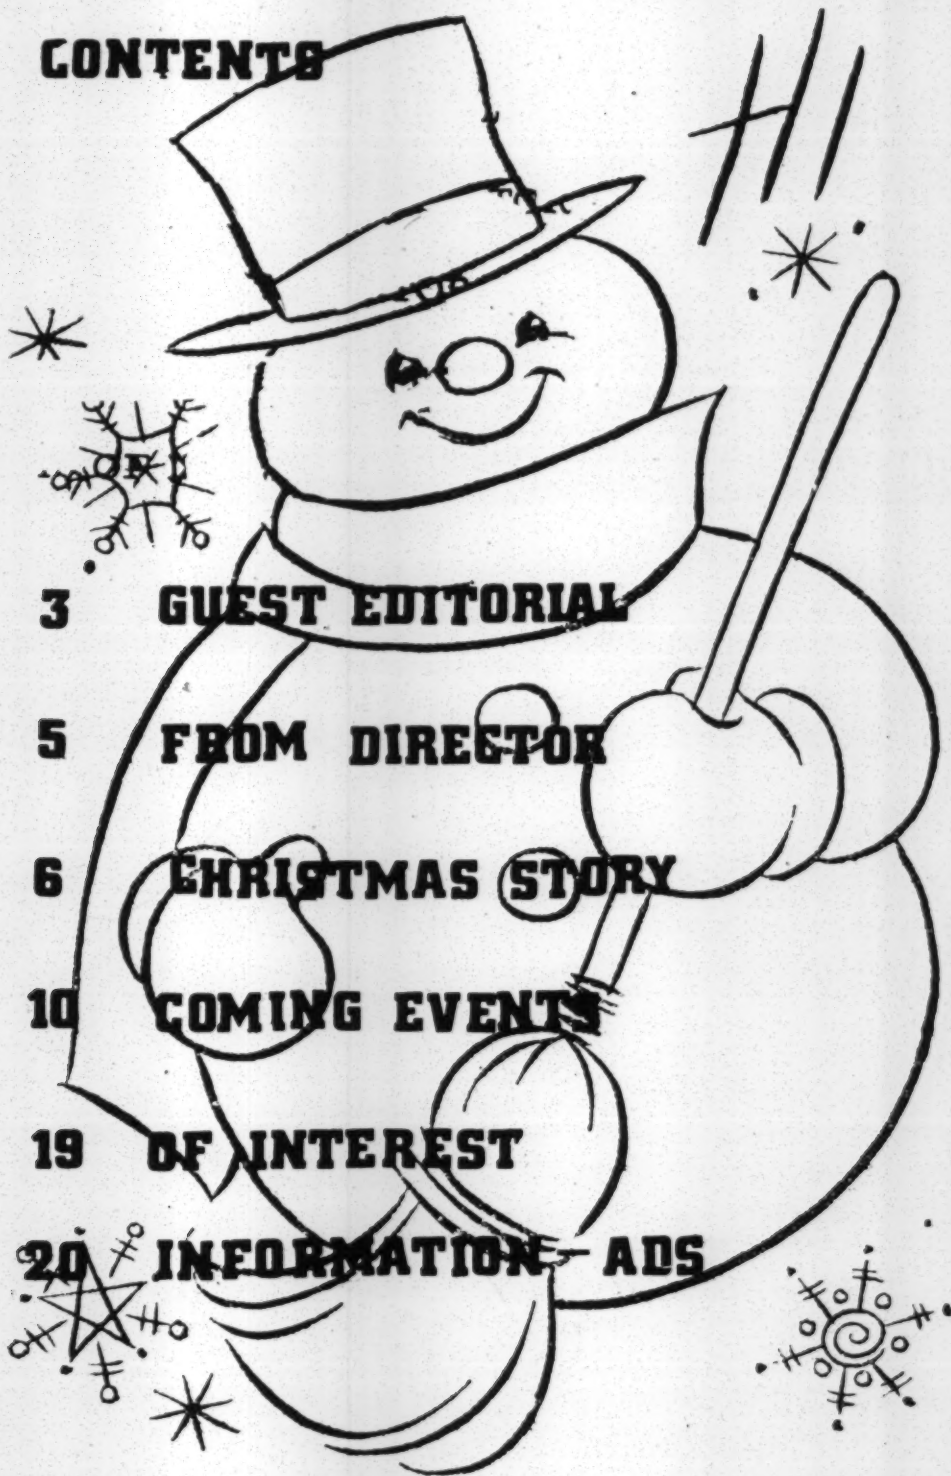

The major service which the Foundation now provides is UNI-COM GUIDE, a monthly calendar of spiritual and personal awareness activities scheduled throughout California. This popular publication allows "new age" organizations to announce in advance the dates and contents of their meetings to a large and interested audience of individuals and other organizations. The cost of publishing UNI-COM GUIDE is supported by paid advertising and by modest subscription fees of $5 /year, or $8 / two years.

In the process of gathering information for UNI-COM GUIDE, the Foundation becomes aware of leaders who are available for service in counseling, speaking, teaching, research, seminars and retreats. Frequently this awareness, discreetly coupled to organization needs for such talent, results in effective new relationships. Uni-Com Foundation does not solicit funds for this and other informal services but is supported by those who see the value of such work and voluntarily wish to become a sustaining part of it.

Uni-Com Foundation is a non-profit and non-denominational corporation which lovingly encourages the achievement of a loving society. Uni-Com also offers two additional services of a mail order book catalogue and a small monthly pamphlet of articles by Metaphysical teachers.

OUR GUEST

Leonard Worthington

God speaks thus to each of us: "Although I am the sum and substance of all creation, I can only give you that which you are willing to accept from me. While I am all powerful and all knowing and all that I have is yours and my wish for you is every good and perfect gift you must be ready and willing to continue to live in the poverty of your own limitation. I have sent you an example of your potential in the person of my son Jesus. He rightly instructed you that all of you are also my sons and daughters and that you might have life and have it more abundantly. This is your true potential, a happy, successful healthy, and abundant life.

I have made you in my perfect imaging and in the likeness of my powers have I invested you with the capacity to be a co-creator with me in the world.

Through you and about you have I poured my essence and my creative energy. I have established laws of procedure and creation for your use.

In your world of today you would call it a "do-it-yourself-kit" complete with all ingredients, tools and perfect instructions. The rest is up to you "my loved ones" you must follow the rules - my rules, if you seek for perfect results - for they are yours for the asking and for the doing".

Others have traveled this path before you and they have left road signs to guide you safely and more easily to the summit of your expectations. But you must be able to read these signs. You must first locate them, because time and other travelers have defaced and hidden them from the sight of all but the most spiritually perceptive.

Finding them, you must read them with an unselfish and dedicated heart - rather than with mortal eyes and a mind confused by years of contact with mortal man and his errors of judgement and conduct. Then comes your greatest of all tests. With this blueprint, before you, which guarantees to all my human kingdom a life more abundant, you must make the greatest decision of your life. You must answer this question. Are you willing to follow my conditions precedent to attain this cherished goal? Placing all of the benefits that life offers to man on your scales of desire. Will you remove all those that prevents them from balancing in love, peace, and harmony? Once you have done this and placed your feet on the path that leads into my heart, you can never turn back. I do not promise you an easy life nor one free of problems, but you are assured of all the knowledge and power required to surmount them. And with each great victory your spiritual muscles will expand and you will become stronger and stronger. Ere long the boulders will become like pebbles and the enticing detours that lead to disappointments will become less and less attractive.

Oh what a glorious future lies ahead of those who elect to follow my instructions. It is not true that man needs suffer to attain to Oneness with me. Rather he endures suffering because he foolishly choose to travel my highway but in a vehicle of his own choosing and with a faulty road map and is enticed into taking unwise detours.

The vehicle which I have offered you can be restored to perfection where it can serve you efficiently and transport you to your goal safely and easily. You - none of my children - need to become a martyr except those who voluntarily elect to do so in order to set an example in a greater cause. This cause, once established is ended for all time and need not be repeated by any later disciple. It was not thus intended by me, for my perfection is the goal for your bodies and your life. Anything short of this is man's plan - not mine.

~~dismiss~~ from your mind the idea that to reach me you must endure pain and live with limitation. No, I command you, you must surmount them all and rise like the eagle soaring above and beyond that which would keep you from me. Victory is never attained by surrendering to an adversary and quitting the fight. My laurel wreaths shall be placed on the heads only of those who break through the jungles of life and reach the clearing into the sunlight of my intended goals for all of my children.

If you believe in me believe also in my love for you and my ability to help you. Do not hold your eyes hypnotized upon a seeming difficulty for your help comes not from that source. But lift your vision away from the darkness, towards me, and my light shall stream into your life like a thousand suns, bringing with it the wisdom and the power to live like the Gods that you are. Gods in human form. Walking your earth as masters, rather than as slaves. Breathing in my holy breath and sensing my beautiful creation all about you. Spreading your light and love to all my kingdoms, as your innate divinity directs you.

Then will you find true joy in each moment of living. Every movement of your body will become a thing of beauty. Every word that issues from your lips a pearl of great price.

And as you unselfishly and in humility allow me to enter into your way of life, guiding and suggesting my ways to you, there will return back to you a thousand fold, from all parts of my kingdom, all that you cherish most highly and your life will indeed be a most abundant one.

This I offer in love to you. Your acceptance is all that I seek. I do, in fact, stand at the door of your life - knocking - always knocking. Won't you open the door to abundance and invite me in to share it with you."

FROM THE DIRECTOR

With the growing interest in the psychic field it becomes increasingly important to draw a line between psychic ability and spiritual attainment. Some new age individuals appear to be confusing the two. Psychic ability is one thing. True spiritual or cosmic attainment is quite a different thing. From what I have seen in my travels. I feel the need for making a distinction between the two.

Let us put it this way, that psychic ability does not imply that the individual also has made spiritual progress.

We have seen many people who have been born with, or who have developed excellent psychic abilities of some kind, but who were not spiritual people. Some have considerable degrees of ESP. They are able to demonstrate such gifts at clairaudience, clairvoyance, mind reading, mediumship, or some other form of psychic ability, But at the same time they display many traits which would not come from a spiritual person.

I mention this because just about everywhere I go I find people straining themselves to "open their psychic centers" and develop psychic powers. Sometimes I wonder if those who encourage them really know what they are doing, or what they will be letting themselves in for. To become mentally or physically unbalanced is not a pretty sight, and we have seen those that it has happened to.

Why do not people seek the more Christlike qualities of love, understanding, wisdom, healing abilities, etc? Just because you open the psychic centers, does not mean you will automatically become spiritual!

We are not saying that you should not open your psychic centers at all, because this is a step in the right direction. But we feel that training in the spiritual aspects of life, of harmony to ones fellow man. The learning of what its all about, the study of the ancient mystery schools, should accompany the psychic push. Reach for the high teachings of the master, set a goal of cosmic freedom of of the Universe, and the psychic development that you so desire will come naturally and without danger to those about you.

Each and every one of you may have that that you are seeking if you but keep your goal and your ideals in the hand of the cosmic masters.

Blessings to each and everyone this Holiday season.

Patricia

For nine Christmases in a row mankind has paused to listen to a song. Now, once again . . .

THIS CHRISTMAS THE WORLD WILL HEAR A MIRACLE

BY VELDA JOHNSTON

■ IN 1944 Jill Jackson, a young Hollywood actress married to a movie producer, tried to take her own life. Her personal history was patterned somewhat like that of others whose talent and attractiveness hadn't checked their plunge to the ultimate despair. First there was her orphaned and troubled childhood. Later on there was the career that somehow failed to bring her the sense of achievement and personal worth she'd hoped for. Still later there was a period of psychoanalysis that seemed to destroy the emotional refuge she'd built for herself—"a kind of personal philosophy based on my sense of oneness with nature"—without giving her anything to take its place.

She bungled the suicide attempt. Instead of oblivion, it brought her long, bedridden months of physical suffering and semiparalysis. Out of the pain, the helpless inactivity, and the shocked revulsion against her own act, she made a vow. If she lived, she would put her life completely in the hands of the Creator of mankind and of all that natural beauty that had been her solace and delight but had not been enough to sustain her. If she lived, it would not be as the self-absorbed and self-tormented woman she finally had become. Instead she would try to be, as she phrases it, "like a pane of glass through which the light shines."

On an Easter Sunday ten years later that same woman sat with her second husband, Sy Miller, in the living room of their house at 260 El Camino Drive, Beverly Hills. The Millers, who as a song-writing team had produced several dozen published songs, were listening to the radio broadcast of an inspirational talk. During the course of it, the speaker pointed out that the dream of world peace can become a reality only as it begins in each individual's heart.

Like most profound true statements, it was far from new—in essence it was a restatement of the Golden Rule. But in a world now capable of nuclear self-destruction the Golden Rule cannot be restated too often. The Millers then and there decided to write a song embodying the idea. Music, Jill Jackson Miller says, puts wings on words and ideas. Their song had the simplicity of a child's prayer. It began: "Let there be peace on earth. And let it begin with me."

FOR SEVERAL WEEKS the song just lay on the Millers' worktable. Then their young daughters, Janet and Harley, took it with them to Anytown, U.S.A., a workshop camp held each summer in Southern California's San Jacinto Mountains, which was attended by young leaders of varying economic, racial, and religious backgrounds.

Sitting slim and curly-haired and vibrantly alive in her living room one recent afternoon, Jill Miller, who'd once sought death, described the first mass singing of "Let There Be Peace on Earth."

"It was one of those crystal-clear mountain nights, with a slight breeze blowing. Here were these one hundred and eighty youngsters standing in a circle, arms around each other's shoulders. They swayed as they sang. The trees were swaying, too, and above them were the stars. I found myself thinking, wouldn't it be wonderful if everyone in the world were standing in that circle, singing a prayer for peace."

Not everyone in the world, of course, has sung that song, or even heard of it. Nevertheless, it does indeed seem to have wings. Since that night under the mountain stars, the song has spread around the globe.

It traveled first, of course, with the young campers back to their homes and schools and clubs. Soon churches and other organizations in all 50 states began singing it at high school and college graduation exercises, at Christmas and Easter gatherings, and as part of their celebration of Brotherhood Week. Four-H Clubs and the United Auto Workers sang it. So did the American Legion and B'nai B'rith and the Kiwanis Club and CORE.

Professional singers took it up. For PAGEANT's reporter Jill Miller played a tape of Andy Williams singing the song, thoughtfully, reverently. She could have played tapes of Danny Kaye singing it or Roberta Shore or John Raitt or the late Nat Cole. Pearl Bailey closes her Las Vegas nightclub act with the song. "No matter how noisy the crowd," says Miss Bailey, "when that spotlight narrows down to my face and I sing 'Let There Be Peace on Earth,' there's not another sound in the house."

The song spread to Holland, Germany, England, France, Lebanon, and Israel. In South Africa the Zulus sang it, and so did the Maoris of New Zealand. A Mrs. Louise Eggleston took the song with her on a trip through western and eastern Europe. In Russia she taught it to the plump and smiling wife of the then-Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Among other singers of the song have been 3500 men on the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Hancock and prisoners gathered for a Christmas show in the federal penitentiary on Southern California's Terminal Island. Says Jill Miller, "I hear that the convicts liked the voluntary and individual aspects of the song's idea. You can see how these men, ordered about all the time and living in droves, would like to sing, 'And let it begin with me.'"

MANY PEOPLE FIND the song the most moving when sung by children. Among them was 12-year-old Angela Cartwright of the Danny Thomas TV show, who sang it at a Hollywood Bowl Rally for Y-Teenagers and later at an Operation Woman Power meeting honoring Mrs. Medgar Evers, wife of the slain civil rights leader. And then there is the International Children's Choir, composed of almost 100 little girls, who, dressed in costumes representing member countries of the United Nations, have sung "Let There Be Peace on Earth" at many rallies and celebrations in Southern California. "The girls come on stage in order of their ages," says Jill Miller, "with the girls of about twelve appearing first. By the time the last one, aged three, comes on, the audience is limp." The choir was organized by Mrs. Easter Beekly, a dancing instructor of Long Beach, California. She requires that each little girl be a native of the country she represents or have relatives born in that country. She has not yet found children to represent some of the Asian and African countries but hopes that soon she'll have a full roster.

Sy and Jill Miller play a tape recording of "Let There Be Peace On Earth" in their home in Beverly Hills. The song will be sung by millions for the Christmas season.

"Let There Be Peace on Earth" has won the George Washington Honor Medal from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. It has also brought the Millers a Brotherhood Award from the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

What the song hasn't brought the Millers is money. Instead, it has cost them money. Ten years after that night at the young people's mountain camp, Jill Miller still devotes 35 to 40 hours each week to the song, answering letters about it from all over the globe and speaking about it on TV and radio and before various groups. To each audience she presents a startling but valid bit of arithmetic she's worked out: If everyone who heard the song copied down the words and sent them to three other people, who in turn would send them to three others, then in only 21 days the song would have reached every human being on this planet.

Others besides the Millers have spent time and money spreading the song. Stanley S. Slotkin, president of a Los Angeles rental company called Abby Rents, asked for permission to print and distribute it free in the Los Angeles area. Soon letters from all over the nation and even other countries, some of them addressed to "Miss Rents," began to arrive. After distributing 300,000 free copies, he had to abandon the project.

And in Canada Robert Laurion of Ottawa's radio station CJAD not only played the song on radio three or four times daily but supplied high quality tapes of it free to stations in the United States that expressed a desire to broadcast it.

AND SO, out of one woman's agony—that loneliest of all agonies that is the would-be suicide's—came a spiritual change, which in time produced a "winged idea," a song that millions will sing and ponder this Christmas and every day for years to come. ■ ■

OF INTEREST

UNI-COM FOUNDATION is at the first of the year establishing a lending library for members. We have been collecting books over a period of time, so that others might benefit from the knowledge. If you have any books that you have out-grown, we would appreciate them, so that others might learn too. Please contact us by phone or mail. If not too far away we will pick up, or have someone get them to us. Thank You. We wish to thank Ann Haas and Florence Smith for the books they donated.

Uni-Com is also looking for volunteer office people both in the Bay area and in Southern California. We need people to gather information for us, and make contacts. We also need outside sales people. Donations

We will be in an office by the first of the year. If you have office equipment that you are not using. We can!

Here is a book as complex and individual as you are. It's not light reading because it's your life, your astral biography, from the details of your inner feelings to your outermost ambitions.

Sun-Moon polarity, as the connection between conscious drives and unconscious feelings, is discussed at great length.

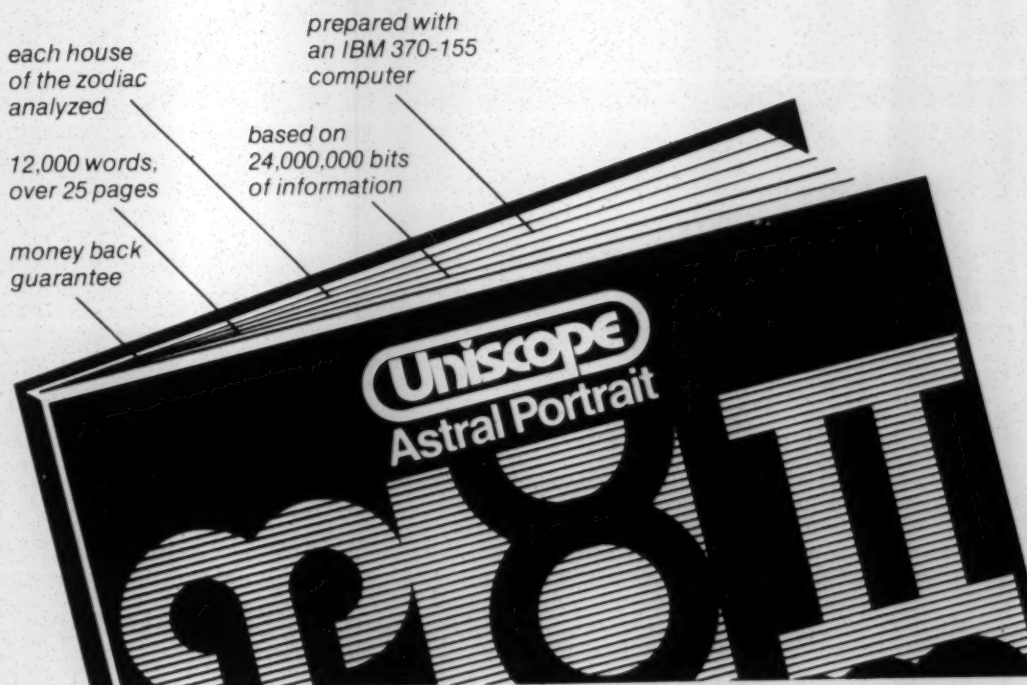

The ascending sign and its rulership position is interpreted as your personality, as your approach to life. Each house of the zodiac is described in terms of planets, rulerships and aspects.

This is not a vague report based on generalities. From your exact time, day, year and place of birth our IBM 370-155 sorts out 24,000,000 bits of astrological information. The result is a 12,000 word personal biography revealing secrets that even your closest friends would not dare talk about.

How is this possible? An astrologer does basically the same thing, but it takes longer and costs more. The computer is simply a memory bank. Only the information that applies to you and only you is drawn from the bank.

All this is yours for only $10. It's the best buy there is in computerized horoscopes. Plus a money back guarantee if your Astral Portrait isn't what you expected.

Think of it as a reference book, to be studied from time to time. We've got the best available, anywhere, at anytime... and at any price.

The Art of The Cosmos

The Art of The Cosmos, is a beautiful experience of blending colors and images that touch a deep spiritual awakening within each student. Work is done with the hands, no brush or pallet, using techniques that have been developed over many years. When the hand comes in contact with color a very strange and wonderful feeling is in store for the student . . . Classes are usually conducted with a background of music. The student has the opportunity of learning self awareness, creativity and spiritual advancement through these techniques!
